

How to Report an Incident

Washington State University

Victims and third parties, preferably with the victim's consent, may report sexual assaults to the WSU Police, 335-8548. Additional reporting options, including reporting to the WSU Office for Equal Opportunity, can be found here: <http://oeo.wsu.edu/reporting/>

Sexual assault victims, on their own or with the help of WSU personnel, are urged to seek immediate attention from the WSU or Pullman Police, as well from medical and counseling services. Victims should preserve any evidence that may be necessary to the proof of a criminal sexual offense. Preservation includes refraining from showering or bathing and saving articles of clothing worn. The Office of the Dean of Students can assist victims with adjustments in living and academic situations. <https://police.wsu.edu/complaint-form/>
